Statement of the Minister

“Ambassador Lee’s nomination underscores Singapore’s enduring commitment to the primacy of international law. It also reaffirms Singapore’s staunch support for the ICJ’s important role in upholding international law, fostering the peaceful resolution of disputes, and safeguarding the interests of all countries.”

I AM PROUD TO ENDORSE the intention of the Singapore National Group to the Permanent Court of Arbitration to nominate Ambassador for International Law Rena Lee for election to the International Court of Justice (ICJ) in 2026.

As a small State, Singapore is steadfastly committed to promoting and advancing the international rule of law. The ICJ, as the United Nations’ principal judicial organ, plays a vital role in this regard. To this end, we are backing this intended nomination of Ambassador Lee to be a Judge at the ICJ.

Ambassador Lee has distinguished herself in various capacities in the Singapore Government, as a legal advisor and diplomat. Most recently, as the Chief Executive of the Intellectual Property Office of Singapore, she has led her team to strengthen and elevate Singapore’s position as a leading intellectual property hub.

In each role, Ambassador Lee brings with her deep legal expertise, an unwavering dedication to upholding the rule of law, a vision for growth and development, and importantly, sensitivity to differing views.

Ambassador Lee’s nomination underscores Singapore’s enduring commitment to the primacy of international law. It also reaffirms Singapore’s staunch support for the ICJ’s important role in upholding international law, fostering the peaceful resolution of disputes, and safeguarding the interests of all countries.

I am confident that Ambassador Lee would continue making valuable contributions to the development of international law as a Judge of the ICJ. She has Singapore’s full support.

Minister for Home Affairs and Minister for Law

Statement of the Minister

I AM PLEASED TO FULLY SUPPORT the intention of the Singapore National Group of the Permanent Court of Arbitration to nominate Ambassador for International Law Rena Lee for election as a Judge of the International Court of Justice (ICJ) in 2026.

This will be the first time a Singaporean is nominated for election as an ICJ Judge since Singapore joined the United Nations in 1965. Ambassador Lee is a distinguished practitioner of international law, who is well-known to the international community. As President of the Intergovernmental Conference on Marine Biodiversity of Areas Beyond National Jurisdiction (BBNJ), Ambassador Lee demonstrated able leadership of the negotiations which led to the consensus adoption of the BBNJ Agreement. This exemplifies Singapore’s proud tradition as a thought leader in the law of the sea, and a trusted bridge-builder in the international community.

Ambassador Lee has over three decades of public service including as a diplomat in The Hague; a legal advisor to and negotiator for the Singapore Government across the full spectrum of international law, particularly law of the sea, climate change and environmental law, international humanitarian law, human rights law, and disarmament law; and as Chief Executive of the Intellectual Property Office of Singapore. She has also served as an elected member of the Legal and Technical Commission of the International Seabed Authority, and is a Member of the Permanent Court of Arbitration.

Ambassador Lee embodies the spirit of impartiality, integrity, and independence of mind invoked in the solemn declaration that all ICJ Judges make before assuming their duties. If elected, she will also enhance the diversity of representation and perspectives on the bench. I hope we can count on your support.

Vivian Balakrishnan
Minister for Foreign Affairs

“As President of the Intergovernmental Conference on Marine Biodiversity of Areas Beyond National Jurisdiction (BBNJ), Ambassador Lee demonstrated able leadership of the negotiations ... This exemplifies Singapore’s proud tradition as a thought leader in the law of the sea, and a trusted bridge-builder in the international community.”

Vision Statement
Independent. Thoughtful. Principled.

I AM DEEPLY HUMBLLED and honoured to be Singapore's candidate for election to the International Court of Justice (ICJ). The ICJ, as the principal judicial organ of the United Nations, is charged with the solemn mission of interpreting, clarifying and developing international law. The unprecedented growth of the Court's docket is an affirmation of the mandate of the Court and the international community's trust that this august institution continues to be instrumental to the maintenance of the world order. If elected to serve, I commit to faithfully uphold this trust.

“ If elected as a Judge of the ICJ... I will apply myself to the work independently and impartially, to deliver meaningful justice in every matter before the Court, and provide actionable legal guidance to the international community at large. ”

States have presented before the Court serious, existential issues, including climate change and other significant crises. The Court that must step up to this challenge has to be one that is diverse in expertise, universal in outlook, and most importantly, ready to listen to all relevant perspectives.

Throughout more than three decades of my professional career, I have served in various capacities as a state negotiator, legal advisor, and diplomat. These roles have allowed me to tangibly live out and practically apply international law beyond the textbook. As a steadfast supporter of the international rule of law, I advocate fidelity to both the letter and spirit of the law in its interpretation and application.

As a state negotiator, I am very familiar with the process of international law making, having participated in the negotiating and drafting of multilateral legal instruments. These include the Convention against Transnational Organized Crime, the Protocol to the ASEAN Charter on Dispute Settlement Mechanism, the Minamata Convention on Mercury, the Paris Agreement on Climate Change, and the WIPO Treaty on Intellectual Property, Genetic Resources and Associated Traditional Knowledge, among others.

As a legal advisor, I advise the Singapore Government on the implementation and fulfilment of its international obligations across different international law domains. These have included issues related to boundary delimitation, disarmament law, diplomatic and consular relations law, environmental and climate change law, human rights law, international humanitarian law, intellectual property law and law of the sea.

As a diplomat, I had the privilege of serving as the President of the Intergovernmental Conference on Marine Biodiversity of Areas Beyond National Jurisdiction (BBNJ), where

Vision Statement
Independent. Thoughtful. Principled.

I led five years of complex negotiations, culminating in the adoption, by consensus, of the landmark BBNJ Agreement. This experience has enriched my perspectives on the plurality of legal traditions and the diversity of state interests, in particular the perspectives of small states. It has also fortified my conviction that inclusive multilateralism and collective commitment to implementation of legal obligations remains a concrete pathway to pragmatic solutions for the transnational problems of our time, and to promote global development, peace and security for a more just world.

If elected as a Judge of the ICJ, I will dedicate myself to contributing further to the development of international law through the Court's jurisprudence, bringing with me the breadth of my practical experience, and appreciation of the unique circumstances and interests of different states. I will apply myself to the work independently and impartially, to deliver meaningful justice in every matter before the Court, and provide actionable legal guidance to the international community at large.
